"The Bargain Corner" has something this week that will interest you. 14-1t

The county commissioners are having a coal house built where all fuel for the court house will be kept in the future.

J. Springer of Quay, was in the city Monday for supplies and was among the number of welcome visitors to this office this week.

W. H. Morgan, the civil engineer, has contracted to survey an irrigating canal two miles long for J. W. Pittman on his ranch at San Jon.

Donald Stewart, manager for the Gross, Kelly firm, is in Las Vegas this week attending a meeting of the stockholders of his company.

W. G. Lewis, Oklahoma city, and A. W. and J. H. Easley, Bradley, I. T., are here this week looking at the country and intend to locate homes.

T. McCalghan of Tecumseh, Okla., an acquaintance of James Lawson of this city, is a late arrival and intends to make Quay county his home.

A. A. Blankinship has gone to Kansas City to buy livery horses and livery supplies. He informs this paper that he intends to spend several thousand dollars in the improvement of his business. He has an automobile en route here now.

Civil Engineer W. H. Morgan has been surveying and locating corners on the Daub Addition for the M. B. Goldenberg Co. during the week. He has established 1,100 corners and a gas pipe post has been sunk at each of the corners.

Sam Aber, the county surveyor, is surveying the townsite at Montoya for the Kohn Brothers. Mr. Aber tells us that the new town is booming and that lumber and all kinds of building materials are needed and can't be had in quantities to supply the demand. The lands around the city are being located by a thrifty set of Kansas and Oklahoma farmers and the community as a whole is very prosperous.

J. W. and W. C. Gray, brothers, and relatives of James Bond of Quay, arrived here last Friday from Pilot Point, Texas, and intend to locate and improve lands. They were in the city Saturday with Mr. Bond.

J. B. Dodson, Maud, Okla., and R. J. Bowman, Shawnee, Okla., were in this city Monday with J. R. Wood from Montoya, and we are informed by Mr. Wood that they have located homes in the vicinity of Montoya and are very much pleased with the country.

J. C. Jones is asking for bids for the erection of a stone building, 26x50 feet on the corner of Second and Center streets. The building is to have a 7ft 3in basement. This is a splendid location and will add to the appearance of things about the corner of Second and Center.

James Bell of Endee, who was a candidate for the democratic nomination at the late democratic primaries, and a warm friend of the sheriff, has been appointed under sheriff and jailor. This appointment will please everybody in Quay county as Mr. Bell is known to be a gentleman and a competent and very obliging official. He has moved to town and already entered upon his duties. The family occupies the Street residence south of the courthouse.

A. S. Bushkevitz, president of the Mora County Publishing Co., at Roy, was here several days looking after business interests. He tells this paper that Mora county and the district around Roy in particular is settling up very rapidly and that business of every kind is flourishing at Roy. Roy has a commercial club that is helping in every way possible to encourage immigration and to develop the resources of the country.

Subscribe for this paper. What you will save on purchases by Gross, Kelley's advertisements will pay your subscription and stock your farm. 14-1t
